

WASHINGTON STATE DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES

October is Urban and Community Forestry Month

Washington State Governor Jay Inslee officially proclaimed October “Urban and Community Forestry Month” (though communities are welcome to celebrate whenever they can). Does your community need some ideas for its celebration of Urban and Community Forestry Month?

Urban Forestry Restoration Project

Would your community and its tree canopy benefit from getting approximately four weeks of Puget SoundCorps crew time to assist with urban forestry tasks that enhance the health and function of urban trees and forests?

What’s going on with Bigleaf Maple?

While we don't yet know what is causing crown and branch dieback in bigleaf maple trees around the region, a DNR partnership with pathologists from Oregon Department of Forestry, Oregon State University and the USDA Forest Service is moving closer to an answer.

More news

Poll Results: Tree Protection During Development

New Poll: Help Pick Topics for our 2016 Seminar Series

From the Field: Arlington Makes the Most of Trees

Register Today: Asset Management for Community Trees Seminar

Web-ucation: Links to Help You Learn

September Calendar of Events, Activities and Opportunities

The Washington Urban and Community Forestry Program is made possible with assistance from the USDA Forest Service Urban and Community Forestry Program. The program's purpose is to educate citizens and decision-makers about the economic, environmental, psychological, and aesthetic benefits of trees and to assist local governments, citizen groups and volunteers in planting and sustaining healthy trees and vegetation wherever people live and work in Washington State. The USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

Copyright © 2015 Washington State Department of Natural Resources, All rights reserved.

Unsubscribe from all DNR e-News Update my email address/Change my subscription preferences